

choose to use technology frequently in product differentiation, often with advanced techniques for their age be distracted easily by new technology become frustrated when others, including teachers, struggle with technology skills that they consider to be basic like to use Apps or technology in most areas of their lives Technological ability may... or could... take equipment apart to see how it works and not be able to put it back together again offer to assist others to learn new technological skills spend their free time developing their technological skills demonstrate a wide range of technological skills experiment and teach themselves new technology or software write computer code independently or pick up the skills faster than their peers eagerly explore the use of technology